The XXIV Olympic Winter Games is set to be held from 4 to 20 February 2022 in Beijing and Zhangjiakou, which is the first time for China to host the Winter Games. On 23 June 2021, International Olympic Day, China Post issued a set of four commemorative stamps and a stamp sheetlet under the theme “Olympic Winter Games Beijing 2022 – Competition Venues”, featuring five venues, namely the Big Air Shougang, the National Aquatics Center, the National Ski Jumping Centre, the National Sliding Centre and the National Speed Skating Oval. The stamps are designed in se-tenant block, with a curved motif running through them. With reference to the structural characteristics of one of the venues, the stamp sheetlet containing an oval-shaped stamp is ornamented with snowflakes decorative borders. With the application of full-colour night scene printing technology, the venue “Ice Ribbon” (the nickname for the National Speed Skating Oval) is revealed under UV light, presenting a glamorous neon-lit night scene.

Christmas Island Turtles	All seven species of marine turtle are endangered, including the two that frequent waters around Christmas Island: the large, herbivorous Green Turtle (Chelonia mydas) and the smaller, critically endangered Hawksbill Turtle (Eretochelys imbricata). The Green Turtle is the only turtle to nest on Christmas Island. However, a very significant percentage of hatchlings do not survive their first few days of life. Threats to marine turtles include pollution and habitat destruction, as well as over-harvesting and predation of eggs.
